MANIFESTO
2023-2028

Foreword

Five years of misguided policies and marginalization have given rise to a generation of youth who can expect to be worse off than their parents, our women population left feeling neglected and discriminated, and our industrious fisherfolk struggling to make ends meet and teetering on the brink of leaving the country's proudest native profession for good. Surging costs of living, gloomy job prospects, insufficient education and training opportunities, lack of privacy to raise young families in cramped housing – these are just some of the challenges facing the contemporary youth population in the Maldives.

Today's Maldivians also face new challenges, from rising violent and drug-related crimes, mental health concerns, workplace discrimination and social injustice.

However, it is hard not to be inspired by today's socially conscious, dynamic and industrious youth population, who continue to be undeterred in voicing for change. Injecting vigour through the hustle economy, adapting to a more technologically demanding future and volunteering for worthy causes, they take to social media to chart a new course for national development.

The PPM-PNC coalition don't believe in the cliché – the youth are the leaders of tomorrow or women are the foundation of our economy. We firmly believe that the youth are the leaders of today, and that it is our responsibility to recognize this need and to realise this changed mindset in our society. We champion the cause of women, whether it be in the workplace or home, regardless of age or social condition.

The 2023-2028 PPM-PNC government will invest in young people and women as the administration's top priority, and match their ambition with money and resources to implement the transformational changes pledged in this document. We will revitalise the fisheries industry to bring it back to its feet, and thereby encourage a new generation of fisherfolk and fisheries entrepreneurs and professionals to sustainably utilise our vast oceans to usher in a new dawn of prosperity for the country.

We will take radical steps to provide improved housing for young families, facilitate job and training opportunities for thousands of aspiring youth and take broad measures to improve the lives of young women in our public and private sectors.

This election is a once-in-a-generation opportunity to stabilise our economy and to recalibrate the country's social values, to bequeath an optimistic future for the younger generations. The future is ours to make. It's time for real change and concrete action to ensure that no young person in Maldives is held back or left behind.

DR. MOHAMED MUIZZU

Introduction

The Progressive Party of Maldives (PPM) is the only party contesting this election with the unambiguous five-year record of representing the people in opposition to the outgoing regime of Ibrahim Mohamed Solih.

The Maldives has witnessed five years of backsliding in good governance, compromising on national sovereignty, mismanaging the economy, violating the Constitution, eroding of social and family welfare care, persecuting the opposition, interfering in the judiciary and rampant corruption.

PPM and PNC understand the challenges it will face in reversing the country's fortunes after five lost years in her contemporary development path. The focus for the coming five-year PPM-PNC administration of Dr. Mohamed Muizzu will be on the youth engagement and women empowerment, along with economic stability. Due priority will be attached to the fisheries sector, which finds itself on the brink of total collapse.

The PPM-PNC coalition will invest in schools and higher education, to give every child the best start in life and to ensure young people that learning isn't for exams but for career success. We will advance healthcare to bring the country on par with the region's best in quality care, pharmaceutical quality and multidisciplinary treatment options. We will emphasise on a fairer economy that brings happiness and security to everyone. The focus on technology and advancement will ensure that the Maldives keeps pace with the ever-changing world, to ensure that our people can reap the benefits of globalisation.

PPM will champion its mantra of 'Nation First' in working for Maldivians and ensuring that the current treatment of our people as second-class citizens will never ever be repeated.
